WEATHER FORECAST FOR KENTUCKY.—Fair and warmer to-day; probably rain Saturday; southwesterly winds, becoming variable.

It will require years of work to counteract the evil effects of Goebelism in Kentucky.—Public Ledger.

Really! Now what about the out-laws and murders and assassinations committed by Republican desperadoes of the mountain counties, especially in late years? What about the blackest of all crimes committed only this week, when a cowardly assassin concealed in a public building occupied by the Republican Governor and other Republican State officials, shot down his victim, a State Senator, as he approached the capitol steps? What about the acts of this Republican Governor in rushing troops to the building—surrounding it and practically preventing the civil authorities from searching out the assassin of his political opponent?

As a majority of the Legislature by refusing to recognize the legality of Gov. Taylor's proclamation proroquing that body, has created the state of insurrection, it is apparent that it is an impossibility to convene that body at this time without creating further violence. The hour Gov. Taylor calls for Federal aid in order to suppress the domestic violence now existing within the State, it will become the constitutional duty of the Federal Government to act.—Cincinnati Times-Star.

The Times-Star ignores the fact that Acting Governor Taylor declared by proclamation that a state of insurrection existed before the Legislature committed a single act in opposition to the Chief Executive. In other words, if the refusal of the Legislature referred to created the state of insurrection, then there was no state of insurrection at the time Mr. Taylor proclaimed there was; hence he had no ground for issuing his proclamation adjourning the Legislature and was wholly in the wrong.

The public can have little respect for the Presidential candidate who spent an entire campaign on the stump urging people to vote for himself, and they must have less for one who spent an entire four years following that failure in asking to be given a second trial. There is a feeling that in a position of this dignity the office should seek the man, or at least that the man is hardly justified in making a five years personal campaign in his own behalf.—Public Ledger.

Well, what about the man that sits in the White House and manipulates all the departments of the government to further his own selfish aims to succeed himself? If the people did not wish to hear public questions discussed by Hon. W. J. Bryan, he would be at his home. His reputation as an orator and his ability to discuss public questions in an entertaining and instructive way keep him constantly before the public. It is not surprising that his course is not approved by peanut politicians of the opposing side and other men of that size.

SENATOR BACON of Georgia put some plain and pointed questions to the Republicans in a speech this week, in discussing his Philippine resolution. He maintained that the United States owed as much to the Filipinos as it does to the Cubans, to whom by resolution of Congress self-government had been promised, and he strongly urged that the resolution declaring it to be the intention of this Government to confer the right of government upon the Filipinos be adopted as a means not only of terminating the war, but of extending to a struggling people justice and freedom. Mr. Bacon discussing previous acquisitions of territory said that in each case there was legitimate expansion that subverted none of our institutions. He asked:

"What shall be said of an expansion by the acquisition of territory where it is not intended that there shall be statehood and where it is impossible that there can ever be statehood? To hold them a subject colony makes necessarily a revolution in our system of government which should not be aided by any one who is loyal to the principles upon which that system is founded.

"The advocates of the permanent retention of the Philippines do not like to hear the term 'vassal.' Nevertheless one who is subject of a government in which he has no voice, who only has such liberty as the government may grant him, and which itself may be taken from him at the will of the government, is a vassal. And that is the only political relation the Filipino can ever bear to the United States. The advocates of permanent retention do not like the term 'imperialism.' Nevertheless a republic owns outlying provinces to be held permanently as dependent colonies, never to be admitted as a part of the republic in the control and administration of the government of that republic, is to that extent imperialism. And if held permanently that is the only relation which the Philippine Islands can ever bear to the United States. In the nature of things there can be no imperial republic. Under such a government the form of a republic may be preserved, but under it the spirit of republicanism must die."

ASSISTANT SECRETARY OF STATE DAVIDSON said after the shooting: "There have been about forty men, more or less, sleeping in the upper part of the building for nearly a week. They were allowed to spend the night there, and took their meals elsewhere. We do not know their names. We are more than anxious to lend every possible aid to the authorities in finding the assassin."

The above is in reference to the attempted assassination of Gov. Goebel. Here's an acknowledgement from a Republican State official of just what the BULLETIN charged, that a gang of mountaineers were allowed by Republican officials to take up their quarters in the very building from which the assassin's bullets were fired. Mr. Davidson says they had been there for "nearly a week," but he "did not know their names." Queer proceeding on part of Republican State officials to harbor a lot of unknown (?) men in the public buildings of the State! But these Republican officials can not plead ignorance as to the desperate character of the gang they thus harbored; that was demonstrated by the lawless actions of the gang when they arrived in Frankfort a week before, and by the further fact that they set about offices of these officials "polishing up their guns." Their very presence was a menace to peace and order, and Mr. Taylor and other Republican officials, instead of harboring the gang and thus encouraging them, should have kicked them out and sent them home where they belonged. Another act of encouragement on the part of Governor Taylor given these men, was his unseemly haste in pardoning some of them who were caught on the streets with deadly weapons concealed on their persons. Mr. Taylor did not even give the Police Judge of Frankfort time to try these open violators of the law, but granted the pardons and sent the documents to the court room while some of the offenders were on the point of pleading guilty.

To the BULLETIN, viewing all the circumstances of the attempted assassination, it looks very much like some of the Republican officials at Frankfort were accessories to the crime.

ANSWERS BY GAGE

And the Facts Taken From the Public Records Bearing on the Question.

[New York World.]

Q. What answer did you send to Mr. Hepburn's letter of June 5 asking for favors for the National City Bank in return for the political contributions of the directors?

A. None.

Facts—When Mr. Gage became Secretary of the Treasury on March 4, 1897, the Government deposits in the National City Bank were $200,000. On December 15 following they were $20,083,652.

Q. Please tell of any agreement made between the National City Bank and the Treasury in the period between June 5, 1897, and October 26, 1897.

A. There was none.

Facts—In October, 1897, the National City Bank was designated by the Secretary of the Treasury to distribute the Union Pacific fund, amounting to $58,448,223.

Q. Tell what took place at the conference over the financial situation suggested by you to be held in Philadelphia on December 23, 1897, between yourself, James Stillman and James P. Morgan.

A. No such conference was held.

Facts—It has been reported that Mr. Morgan and Mr. Stillman declined to go for fear of the publicity that they might receive. As Mr. Gage replies to the Senate, Mr. Stillman arranged the matter by letter.

Q. What amount of bonds in the name of the Standard Oil Company did the Treasury hold in trust for the National City Bank?

A. Only $1,914,000 were assigned and delivered to the Standard Oil Company at the order of the National City Bank.

Facts—A great part of the $7,334,000 of the bonds assigned by the Treasury at Mr. Stillman's order belonged to the United States Trust Company and other trust companies controlled by the Standard Oil Company.

"IRREPARABLE"

"Injury To Republican Cause," Declares Sam Robert's Paper in Reference to the Shooting of Goebel.

LEXINGTON, KY., January 31.—The Leader, edited by Sam J. Roberts, Collector of Internal Revenue, says under the caption, "No Sympathy For Assassins," in to-day's issue:

"The assassination of Senator Wm. Goebel is a stain upon Kentucky, and Republicans and Democrats deplore the awful tragedy at the State capital without regard to political differences or its effect upon the political conditions that have brought ruin and disgrace to a once proud Commonwealth. The Republican party is in no wise responsible for this black crime, except in so far as its defense of constitutional rights against the assaults of its antagonists may have fired the brain of some man to the commission of an act that is without justification, and that has done irreparable injury to the Republican cause at a moment when the conservative people of the State and nation were in full sympathy with it."

BRACKEN CASE.

Opinion of the Court of Appeals in the Suit of the Farmers' Warehouse Against Gibbons.

In reversing the case of the Farmers' and Shippers' Tobacco Warehouse Company against Gibbons, taken up from Bracken County, the Appellate Court says:

First—One against whom no attachment was sought and whose name appeared in the copies of the attachment by mistake can not maintain an action for the wrongful suing out of the attachment, his cause of action being for the wrongful seizure of his property under the attachment by direction of the plaintiff therein.

Second—The damages recoverable for such an injury do not include attorneys' fees, but only the actual and direct damages to the property itself.

Third—There can be no recovery for the malicious prosecution of an action where plaintiff's corporation honestly sought the advice of its attorney after taking more than ordinary care to acquaint itself with the facts on which it based its claim for recovery, and, after fully and fairly stating the case pursued, the course recommended by such counsel, neither malice nor want of probable cause being shown.

Not Justified in Calling Out the Militia.

[Cincinnati Post.]

Attorney J. J. Cushing, Republican, said: "Governor Taylor was not justified in calling out the militia. People are getting tired of soldiers being rushed out every time there is a fist fight between politicians. The statutes of Kentucky provide that any candidate for office may contest the right of his successful competitor to assume the office before the Legislature, and their decision is supreme. The methods used to oust Taylor may be outrageous, but it is no fault of the law, but of the men who compose the Legislature."
